

Judge Nelson, that it is thought the president will appoint him. As nearly every appointment that Grant makes is for social personal reasons, this appointment is more than likely.

EXCLUSIVE.

Heretofore the senate galleries have been divided into four parts: a reporter's gallery, one for the diplomatic corps, one for ladies, and another for gentlemen. This session there has been a portion of the ladies gallery, adjoining that occupied by the families of foreign diplomats, partitioned off and reserved for the families of senators, which fact is emblematic on the entrance doors. To be the wife or daughter of a senator, and have to mingle with the common herd while enjoying the senate play, was quite a letting down of dignity; and although these same senators favor the social mixing of blacks and whites, but they take precious good care to preserve their families from contact with their dear friends. I expect to hear a yelp from the negroes at this tramping down of their social rights.
